Indulge your senses and get body beautiful with these exotic, pampering treats

- 1 The Sanctuary's Bidadari Shimmering Body Oil is a confection of sweet almond and coconut oil combined with micronised golden particles. It transforms simple post-bath or shower moisturising into an Indonesian spa moment. £9.95 for 100ml, from Boots nationwide.
- 2 The clever chemists at Greek natural ingredient company Korras have created a delicious-smelling brand called Kings & Queens, which includes Sultan of Grenada Lemon Flower Shower Gel, £5 for 300ml. The range is inspired by ingredients favoured by royals, along with other exotica including pomegranate, malachite and Egyptian lotus. From John Lewis and House of Fraser nationwide.
- 3 Brazilian brand Surya uses sustainably harvested, organic rainforest plant extracts and is free from parabens, artificial colouring and fragrance. The Amazonia Preciosa Nutritive Hair Mask, £10 for 120g, gives parched locks a nourishing boost. From Liberty and by mail order, tel: 020 7734 1234.
- 4 Jo Wood has introduced her Everyday line to her luxurious bath and body range. My favourite is Langa Nourishing Body Cream, £15 for 200ml, which smells of frangipani, jasmine and apricot, and contains certified organic ingredients. jooodorganics.com.
- 5 Les Météorites, Guerlain's complexion-illuminating balls, are now available in a pressed powder in three finishes: Mythic Parfait (pictured, for radiance), Rose Fraîche (for freshness) and Beige Enlumineur (for a matt effect). £37 each, tel: 01932 833887.
- 6 Annick Goutal has created Les Orientalistes, a set of four exotic scents: Encens Flamboyant (pictured), Ambre Fétique, Myrrhe Ardente and Muse Nomade, with key notes of amber, frankincense and myrrh. £97 each for 100ml eau de parfum, from Harrods, tel: 020 7730 1234.
- 7 For an authentic Eastern aroma, light a Miller Harris Fleur Oriental candle. £30, millerharris.com
